Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT

You cannot afford to wait until the dawn of some seemingly distant tomorrow to readjust your attitude toward life. You must be prepared in advance for critical hours. You must have a grip on yourself lest disaster dog your footsteps.

Begin today. Look squarely at life. Make the most of your present freedom and opportunity to live true to your heart's allegiance. Thus you will be fitted to triumphantly meet any emergency which might arise.

The fact that your heart aches does not relieve you from the responsibility of "playing the man" and living your loyalty.

The Santa Ana man succeeds Morgan LaRue of Sacramento as head of the association. With the liquidation of various institutions, many problems have arisen in regard to how properly titles are affected, and it was in an effort to clear these points that the discussions were held. Legislation passed by the state legislature was discussed also.

SUGGESTION ON DEBTS, TAXES WINS APPROVAL

Directors of the Orange County Farm Bureau today endorsed recommendations of the Debt and Tax Conciliation committee of Orange county, according to an announcement by Ralph McFadden, president of the farm group.

The recommendation approved by the directors was contained in the following message from members of the committee:

"If the sale is necessary to protect the property in cases where the borrower is not properly caring for it we have not objected to foreclosure and sale. However regardless of whether the borrower is in default of his interest, and taxes for some time we have taken the position that if the lender has permitted this condition to run up to the present point this is not the time for the lender to take the final step in taking over the property.

"We have made it expressly clear that we do not desire to interfere with property rights, nor do we want to interfere with the normal operation of business, nor do we want to build up in the minds of borrowers that they can become negligent in the payment of interest, principal and taxes without having to suffer the consequences.

COUNTERFEIT CURRENCY IS REPORTED HERE

Merchants and citizens of Santa Ana have been warned by city police to be on the lookout for counterfeit and raised currency following the detection of three bogus bills in the last two days.

Detective Sergeant Charles W. Wolford, who is conducting the investigation, has forwarded the fake money to William Ashe, head of the United States Secret Service in Los Angeles, and a careful check will be made by local banks to detect any counterfeit bills that may be in circulation.

The first bill was turned in by Tony Knipe, teller at the Bank of America, who detected a $2 bill which had been cleverly raised to $10. It was found that a local men's clothing store had turned the bill in to the bank, and that the Sol Gonzales store had handled it before that.

A. P. Trawick, auditor at the First National bank, turned in the other two bills this morning, a counterfeit one dollar bill, and another $2 bill raised to $10. These are also being traced back in an effort to discover the source.

GROUP MAKES PROTEST ON ART EXHIBIT

Protesting against the kind of work exhibited at the Fourteenth Annual Exhibition of painting at the Los Angeles museum at Exposition Park, an open letter to the board of supervisors and governors and museum patrons of the Los Angeles Museum of History, Science and Art was made public today.

The letter was signed by 140 taxpayers, educators, architects, artists, sculptors, musicians, writers, artists and crafts and industrial and mercantile people.

The letter expressed disgust with the type of pictures shown at the exhibit which it was said "shamelessly propagated immorality" and pictures "which hamper all safe and sound cultural evolution."

The communication demanded for the future in the art exhibitions a jury system capable of passing an equally impartial judgment of academic, liberal and modern tendencies to be comprised of a committee comprising not less than three of the best known professional artists for each tendency which would be a combined jury of not less than nine men and women.

A copy of the letter was sent to The Register by Karl Yens of Laguna Beach, who is one of the signers.

301 Wedding Licenses Issued In May

Two people cannot live as cheaply as one, but 301 couples during May were willing to make the attempt, according to County Clerk J. M. Backs. Marriage licenses issued during the month totaled 301 and that, according to Backs, is some kind of a record.

In May, 1932, licenses issued totaled 251, when everyone knew there was a depression. While the total for May was ahead of the same month last year it was slightly under April of this year, when 334 couples paid $2 for the privilege of trying to "live happily ever after."

Backs pointed out that license totals for every month this year are ahead of the corresponding months in 1932. The total number of licenses issued this year to date is 1414.

LAGUNA BEACH VOTES WET IN BEER ELECTION

LAGUNA BEACH, June 1.—Laguna Beach voted yesterday to continue the sale of alcoholic beverages, 556 to 211, or about two and one-half to one. The wet won all three precincts.

The dry forces, under the leadership of the Rev. Raymond I. Brahams, pastor of the Community Presbyterian church, made a strenuous fight to win the election.

Representatives of the Southern California Business Men's association, with headquarters in Los Angeles, were in Laguna Beach frequently during the campaign and helped to get the vote out yesterday.

The vote by precincts was as follows: first, yes, 137, no, 82; second, yes, 260, no, 89; third, yes, 159, no, 40.

The city council has in preparation an ordinance to regulate and license the sale of alcoholic beverages. Since April 7 beer has been sold without license in Laguna Beach.

GET FIRST JUNE MARRIAGE LICENSE

Miss Velda M. Selvidge, 19, of Santa Ana, will not be the first June bride for Orange county but she will have the satisfaction of knowing that she and William L. Ohmer, 21, of Garden Grove, received the first license to wed issued in this county in June.

Ohmer, who is a nurseryman at Garden Grove, and his bride-to-be appeared bright and early this morning and were issued the first June license. They will be married June 2.

Attaches of the marriage license bureau say they cannot figure why the first June license is considered such hot stuff or why a June bride has anything on a December or April bride or a bride in any of the other months but there seems to be an annual struggle for that honor.

BABY DROWNS IN TUB IN BACK YARD

Falling into a tub of water while playing in her back yard, Rito Delgado, two-year-old daughter of Kuadalupe Delgado, of Talbert, was drowned yesterday. Funeral services were held this afternoon at the Dixon Mortuary in Huntington Beach.

Mrs. Rosa Delgado, grandmother of the child, was working in the kitchen when the child fell into the water. When she discovered the little girl, she summoned neighbors and a Huntington Beach physician. Artificial respiration was applied but the child could not be revived.

Cornet Earl Abbey said no inquest would be held.

COUNTY ZONING IS SUBJECT OF PLANNING BODY BREAKFASTERS MAKING PLANS FOR STEAK BAKE

Permanent zoning of Orange county was taken up for discussion when the county planning commission met this morning in the courthouse annex.

Following discussion of problems in connection with zoning the county, it was decided that the entire commission, with Supervisor W. C. Jerome of Santa Ana and possibly other supervisors, would attend a Los Angeles County Regional planning conference in the near future.

It was pointed out at the meeting that the Orange county building ordinance was passed as an emergency measure following the damage to property in the earthquake and that it is now necessary to carry out a program for permanent zoning in the county.

Nat H. Neff, county superintendent of roads, reported progress on the bridge trail project which is planned to run from Santa Ana to Irvine Park. He also reported progress in the San Clemente and Doheny Park, state park projects, in the immediate past.

Commissioner Lewis Briggs brought up the possibility of establishing recreational centers along the Ortega highway. Briggs was recently appointed a director of the Ortega highway association.

A committee from the South Coast Improvement association appeared before the commission to discuss zoning of property at Three Arches.

FILES SUIT TO FORCE PAYMENT OF INSURANCE

Charging that the Policy Holders Life Insurance company, in a written notice, denied liability under the policy held by her late husband, Mrs. Josephine Farrar has filed suit in superior court seeking judgment for $1500, the face of the policy.

In her complaint Mrs. Farrar alleges that her husband received a policy from the company on February 20, 1929, upon payment of $5 as the initial payment. Under the policy she was named beneficiary and to receive $1500 in the event of her husband's death, providing there was a sufficient number of members in good standing in the association at the time of death.

Under the terms of the policy Farrar was to pay $5 annual membership fee and each member was to pay $1 upon the death of any other member. These payments, however, were not to be paid until death claims had reduced the amount in the benefit fund below a sum equal to $1 for each member in good standing.

Mrs. Farrar charged that her husband died January 30, 1933, and on February 18, according to requirements of the policy, she furnished the company with proof of her husband's death and on May 20 received a written denial of any liability on the part of the company.

Why NOT Sell Beer In Santa Ana

Here is the third prize winner in the recent essay contest conducted by the Santa Ana Dry Association.

BY CHAS. L. MASON

The sale of 3.2 per cent beer should be excluded from Santa Ana, because:

1. Beer and gasoline don't mix well. We don't want people even 3.2 per cent crazed and dazed driving on our streets.

2. Stuff with this much alcoholic content calls and calls insistently for something stronger. This beer idea is merely an entering wedge for whiskey and other strong drinks.

3. It is contrary to the constitution of the United States. If it hasn't a kick, why the hullabaloo about getting the stuff? If it is intoxicating, it goes directly against the fundamental law of our land.

4. It would expose our women and children to danger from drunken loiterers on the streets.

5. It could be an added burden on the taxpayers for the arrest, trial, retention in jail, etc., of those kept out by the dangerous stuff. He assured the small amount collected in licenses will fall far short of caring for the results of drinking.

6. It would tend rapidly to the debauching of our local politics, for booze stops short of nothing to gain its ends.

7. It would lower the morals of the girls serving in eating places, bartenders, making bar-maids of them.

8. It would greatly decrease the sale of legitimate refreshments, such as soft drinks, ice cream, candy, etc., throwing out of work scores of deserving people now engaged in their manufacture, sale and distribution right here in Santa Ana—not some Mexican or other distant city.

9. It would lower our fine city to the common level of those places catering to the thoughtless, reckless, excitement-seeking class of individuals that we can well get along without.

strongly favor it . . . the governor's attitude towards granting clemency to doomed slayers is changing . . . the other day during a commutation hearing he announced, "I do not propose to be regarded as a Wishy Washy governor." . . . Director of Institutions Dr. J. M. Toner, who must give up his job, learned the other day he cannot be demoted to assume charge of a state mental hospital . . . three years' prior service in an insane hospital is necessary and Toner can't qualify.

Politically Speaking

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 1.—(UP)—Groundwork for renewal of the battle between the executive and legislative branches of state government is being laid day by day as Governor Rolph continues to exercise his veto on bills dear to legislators' hearts.

Unless the legislature reverses its attitude, it will override some of the Rolph vetoes at the midsummer session. Three vetoes of Mendocino county government bills were overridden before the May recess—the first time such a thing had occurred in over 40 years.

Disregarding the fate of these three measures, the governor vetoed three more county government bills, affecting Calaveras county, without even consulting their author.

At this writing, Rolph is set to veto the state employees' salary reduction bill which would save California $5,000,000 in the next biennium. There is ample evidence to indicate an attempt may be made to pass this measure over the executive's disapproval.

The oleo margarine bill will probably feel the axe and, possibly, the bill withdrawing from automobile clubs the authority of placing state highway signs. These two and many others may provide the spark to fan the flames of dissension between the governor and the legislature.

Political considerations are not guiding the governor in his appointments of late. Evidence to this effect was the appointment some time ago of A. A. Brock, director of agriculture, Dr. Milne as superintendent of Whittier school, and E. C. Brannon, as emergency relief administrator. The governor had not met any one of these three prior to their appointment. Also indicative was his action in offering to James Burke, Visalia attorney, the directorship of natural resources and to Dr. J. B. Harris, prominent Sacramento physician, the job of director of institutions. All five of the above are men of high standing who are not interested in party politics.

Director of Finance Rolland A. Vandegrift's opposition to the Riley-Stewart tax revision plan has intensified the antagonism against him of the state controller and the board of equalization's offices. Vandegrift contends passage of the revision program would mean a 20 cent ad valorem tax and would increase the state's deficit by $20,000,000.

The unusual situation of a split state cabinet on a major issue continues. . . . Earl Lee Kelly, director of public works opposes gas tax diversion . . . the chief, the governor, and Vandegrift

ALIMONY SOUGHT IN DIVORCE SUIT

Divorce, custody of the couple's daughter, division of community property and $120 permanent alimony is sought in a divorce suit filed in superior court by Mrs. Eleanor Rita Hossfield against her husband James H. Hossfield, Santa Ana salesman.

Mrs. Hossfield accused her husband of remaining away from home until early hours in the morning and with absconding himself from the home on Sundays and said that he admitted associating with other women. He told her, according to the complaint, to get out of the home and that if she didn't he would cut off her allowance and squeeze her out. She also accused him of drinking to excess and using profane language.

The Hossfields were married in Riverside September 24, 1927, and separated Friday. They have one daughter.

Community property listed in the complaint consisted of: $196 in bank; two automobiles; furniture; 51 shares Standard Oil of California stock; 22 shares Southern California Edison Company stock issued in the name of Mr. and Mrs. Hossfield jointly; 20 shares Union Oil Company stock; 200 shares of Commonwealth and Southern stock, and a certificate for $508.75 in the North American Building and Loan company.

Music Presentation To Be Given Soon At Hollywood Bowl

William Farnum, noted stage and screen actor, will play the role of Saul, the "Mad King," in Milton Anderson's music-drama, "David, the Boy Shepherd Who Became King," which is now in active rehearsal for the premiere on Friday night, June 3, in the Hollywood Bowl.

With the cast completed and all principal parts in the hands of capable actors, and with Herr Hans Blechschmidt directing the chorus of 250 trained voices, as well as conducting orchestral rehearsals with 54 symphony musicians, under his baton, the David production is now practically ready for presentation. It will be given three nights.

SEND 40 MEN TO FORESTRY CAMP

Approximately 40 skilled workmen were assigned from Orange county today to work in reforestation camps being conducted by the government. Men submitted their qualifications and received assignments at the office of the county welfare department.

Men being assigned to the camps under this request for skilled workmen are above the age limit set for men enlisted in the camps and were requested by M. H. Davis, assistant forester of the Cleveland National Forest, stationed at San Diego.

Davis asked Orange county to supply: Four cooks, two blacksmiths, four carpenters, two plumbers, two electricians, four automobile mechanics, 10 truck drivers, and 20 men with experience in trail work to act as foremen of work crews.

The men are to receive $1 per day and board.

SPECIAL MUSIC FOR FORMAL OPENING

Formal opening of Bob Murphy's Garage at Second and Main streets will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight when an elaborate program of entertainment will be staged.

In his new quarters, which are more commodious and more centrally located than former quarters on West Fifth street, new equipment has been added.

The program of entertainment to be presented to all who care to attend the opening tomorrow night will include numbers by Brick English's Dance orchestra, Spanish music from talent recruited from the staff of Radio KREG, the Harmony Four and the Junior College Women's Double quartet.

Occidental Grads Include Five from Santa Ana, Orange

Five Orange county students, two from Santa Ana and three from Orange, are included in the list of graduates from Occidental college who will receive degrees at commencement exercises on June 12 in the Greek Theater on the campus.

These students are Margery Adams and John Carroll Ault of Santa Ana and Dorothy R. Baker, Mavis Louis Campbell and Shirley Elizabeth Haynes of Orange.

Make Arrest On Bad Check Charge

Charged with passing a fictitious check for $40 to John E. Phillips, 220 North Olive street, Tim V. Shafer, 26, was arraigned for a hearing in the justice court yesterday and will be brought to court on June 6 at 9 a. m. Bail was set at $500.

Phillips alleged that Shafer gave him the worthless check on December 15, 1931. Shafer has been lodged in the county jail.

SCIENTIST tells WHY this soap is such a wonderful aid in keeping skin YOUTHFUL YOUTHFUL SKIN . . . what a world of happiness those two words mean to a woman!

Yet too often—and too soon—women see their lovely youthful complexions grow dull, rough, old-looking. WHY?

The Secret of Youthful Skin

Because, science now tells you, skin gradually loses the precious elements nature herself puts in skin to keep it young-looking . . . and it's these precious elements that skin must have to be youthfully attractive.

But here's good news . . . scientists explain now you can check the loss of those precious elements. Lux Toilet Soap actually contains such precious elements . . . and is completely free from harshness, readily soluble. That is why this wonderful soap is an unquestionable aid in keeping skin young-looking . . . softly smooth, they declare.

questionable aid in keeping skin young-looking . . . softly smooth, they declare.

Do you wonder that 686 out of the 694 important Hollywood actresses are so enthusiastic about this fragrant, white soap . . . have used it for years? And that it's been made the official soap in all the big film studios?

A Lovelier YOU

MILLIONS of women (and men, too) have confirmed Hollywood's experience. You, too, can have a softer, smoother, younger-looking skin with this scientific care. Get Lux Toilet Soap today—and prove it to your own satisfaction.

WOMEN'S CONTRIBUTION TO THE MOTOR CAR

There is some doubt that people care to hear very much about what goes on under the hoods of their cars.

The driver knows that "driving qualities" are not accidental; they are put there. How the manufacturer creates or evolves those results may not interest him. He judges entirely by the results he gets in driving.

Well, it is not essential to talk "shop"; let us talk Results.

Smoothness. Drive the Ford V-8 and you will find that the engine runs with surpassing smoothness, due to its design and the extra precise methods of its manufacture.

Power. There it is, 75 horsepower (we could say 80) at the drive-shaft for the driver's use. With less weight to pull around, the mettle of this car—its life-like response—is rather remarkable.

Economy. Our V-8 develops more power on a gallon of gasoline than any car we have made. Mileage is partly a matter of individual driving, but under average conditions the Ford V-8 does 17 to 20 miles a gallon. Of course, car economy is not only a matter of fuel. Ford V-8 has that too, but it is also economical in the complete sense—initial cost, operation, maintenance.

Appearance. This is woman's contribution. The motor car must not only be useful, but also good-looking. View the Ford V-8 and you will not need our comment on its fine appearance.

Comfort. This also is woman's concern. In 30 years she changed the motor car from a wagon to a coach. Comfort is a quality made up of numerous ingredients. There is no comfort without a quiet, smooth-running engine. We have all the other ingredients too,—color, good taste, quality, ease, safety, roominess and convenience.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Helen Madison, swimming star of the Olympic games last year, and now professional instructor at Laguna Caliente, is fast on land, too. . . she was pinched in Pasadena and charged with going 40 miles an hour in a 15-mile zone. . . and paid off. . . Rex May, daredevil Los Angeles automobile racer, refused an invitation to go horseback riding the other day. . . "Don't be foolish," he said. . . "I don't like them nags. . . one day when I was working on a ranch in Arizona, I was thrown off a horse and nearly killed. . . they're too dangerous for me."

TIDBITS

Charlie Hornbostel, the Indiana track champion, runs with head thrown back, and looks down at the track spinning in front of him. . . he used to be a bank clerk. . . which may explain his downcast expression. Jack Johnson stands at one end of the Silver Ring bar in Paris. . . and if you buy him a few sausages, etc., he will tell you that he was the greatest heavyweight that ever lived.

MERELY AN APPRAISAL

Suzanne Lenglen probably was only expressing her innate modesty when she said the other day, "Only heaps of money will make it worth my while to meet Helen Wills. She has everything to gain and nothing to lose." John McGraw is out of baseball, but since the Giants have been showing all that fight, the old boy often comes unannounced to the Polo Grounds to watch—and reminisce.

TOO MANY WRITERS

"Schoolboy" Rowe, the Detroit rookie who was labeled a sensation by all who saw him in training camp, appears now to be a flopperino. . . but after some of the tumult and shouting subsided, he will turn out to be a pretty good major league pitcher. Babe Ruth will undergo what we have been told is the acid test when the fans vote on those all-star big league teams to play an exhibition game July 6 as a world fair feature in Chicago. . . will he be chosen for right field? . . . Offhand I'd say the answer is—certainly!

NEITHER DO I

Ed Lewis denies he is too old to grum. . . and the cameras showing him on the mat in New York one night and on the mat in Chicago two nights later, do not seem to contradict him. The autographed picture on Max Baer's dressing table is of June Knight, one of Hollywood's most personable young people. . . but to say they are engaged is something else again. Tex Rickard's estate, rather than being up in seven figures which Tex believed it to be before he died, is discovered to be just $168,662. . . his mother, Lou Adams, receives the income from $43,000.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Berwick, Ia., has no street lights, but has an electrically illuminated ball diamond. You wouldn't think an angel-faced boy like Bill Cissell could be profane, but that's what Umpire Roy Van Graften chided him recently. . . Herb Pennock has been pitching for 21 years in the American league, but still can't sleep in a Pullman berth. . . Eddie Collins says he can't follow a ball game from the grandstand so he sits on a low bleacher bench back of third base. . . Umpire Bill McGowan of the American league is planning to adopt three children of a dead brother. . . The Sporting News advocates reduced admission prices on week days to fatten up slim crowds.

LIGHTWEIGHTS CLASH TONIGHT AT DELHI RING

"Dummy" Mahan, Los Angeles deaf mute, and Neal Foster, Long Beach, fight at Delhi tonight for the amateur lightweight championship of California, a title recognized by the state athletic commission, which has assumed control of amateur boxing here.

Mahan holds the crown now, and will be favored to beat the aggressive, hard-hitting Foster. Regarded by many critics as the best 135-pound battler on the Pacific Coast, either pro or amateur, Mahan has been prevented from taking out a pro license because of his affliction. It is rumored the commission will license Mahan anyway. "In my opinion, 'Dummy' Mahan is the greatest fighter who ever entered the Delhi ring," declared Matchmaker Kid Mexico. "I've been after his services for a year, but couldn't get him until now that our status has been definitely decided by the boxing commission. I believe Mahan is better in every respect than Johnny Hines, who refused to meet Mahan when he was an amateur, too."

Foster's handlers feel differently about Mahan, however. They were here early today with optimistic predictions, satisfied their young charge would give the deaf-mute a bad night.

Tonight's card, the first under direct supervision of the boxing commission, has "Bud" McCarter in the semi-windup and Bill Wana in the semi. The lineup:

"Bud" McCarter vs. Louie Maldonado, 150 pounds; Bill Wana vs. Al Medina, 145 pounds; Nat Mills vs. Margo Saplen, 135 pounds; Pat Quillan vs. Leo Lopez, 105 pounds; Battling Chico vs. "Tiny" Johnson, 112 pounds; Doyle Richards vs. "Fireman" Lang, 165 pounds; Paul Brown vs. Johnny Orocco, 130 pounds; Don Demarzo vs. Al Garcia, 128 pounds; Kid Moreno vs. Ray Lopez, 135 pounds.

Tilden Predicts Defeat for Yank Net Team Abroad

NEW YORK, June 1.—(INS)—William T. Tilden 2nd, former amateur tennis king, who offers to help in the conditioning of the American tennis squad at Paris was rejected yesterday, predicted today that the United States will not win the Davis Cup this year. He declared his pessimism was not due to the fact that his offer was turned down by Bernon Prentice, chairman of the American Davis Cup committee. "Ellsworth Vines is a great player but he isn't good enough to break down the French Davis Cup defense yet," said "Big Bill," now a professional.

"I look for Henri Cochet to win both his singles matches. That leave it up to Jean Borotra to win one of his two assignments, and I think Jean can do that. "And the United States must look out for the interzone final, England and Australia both look strong enough to make trouble for us."

FILE PROTESTS OVER INDIANAPOLIS RACE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 1.—(INS)—Two protests filed against official decisions in the 500-mile Memorial day speedway race today held up distribution of the prize money, the bulk of which is due Louis Meyer, the winner, and Wilbur Shaw, second winner. The money will be distributed as soon as decisions are returned by William G. Wall and W. D. Edens, stewards of the race, it was indicated as they took the protests under advisement.

BROADSIDERS TUNE UP FOR SPEED INAUGURAL AT BOWL

READY FOR SATURDAY NIGHT—The motorcycle speed kings are ready to start the 1933 racing season off with a bang at the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl Saturday night. Here we have Ed Hinkle and Rusty Roberts, new stars, and "Bo" Laman and Ray Grant, old favorites of many Orange county fans. Fifty riders have entered.

Motorcycle speed fans are anxiously awaiting the opening of the motorcycle racing season Saturday night at the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl. Many of the star professionals who competed at Santa Ana last year will find competition keen on account of so many newly imported English racing machines as well as many new riders who have developed during the winter. City officials have been asked to officiate in the opening ceremonies and Loretta Turnbull, famous motorboat speed champion of Monrovia, has been asked to act as honorary referee.

Twenty events are scheduled and the track will be larger this year than last so that four of the fastest riders will be allowed in time trials to establish a new track record. They probably will be Ray Grant, Miny Wain, American champion; Wilbur Lamoreaux, holder of the Santa Ana track record, and Cordy Milne, champion of Mexico.

That, all he had to do was let it go and he'd overpower the hitter. But he's smart now. Just as smart as any of them. "You'll notice all the old fellows are smart. They've got to be."

It's too bad so many of us never really learned how to pitch before we began to slip. But sometimes you see an oldtimer who's more effective after he's lost his best stuff. Joe Shaute of the Dodgers, for instance. He's a far better pitcher now than he was when he had plenty of swift with the Indians some years ago. "Those fellows with great speed and a swell curve and no head are all right when they've got their stuff but when they haven't they're easy. But a fellow with a great head and not so much stuff is always tough because he's never going to give you anything good to hit."

HOME RUNS BY P. NEVA FORNEY BEAT ANAHEIM

Torrance was still leading the National Night league today, clinging tenaciously to its precious one-game lead over Westminster and Huntington Beach.

Bringing their well respected heavy artillery into action in the fifth and sixth innings, "Spud" Murphy's Terrors outlasted Anaheim's Valencas, 4-1, at Anaheim last night. This was Torrance's seventh straight victory and its eighth win in nine starts.

Louie Neva, Torrance's sensational young pitcher, limited the champions to four hits, their only run coming in the first inning on Jim McNabb's walk, a wild pitch and Charley Zabbia's Texas leaguer into center field after Kohler and Higgins had perished on strikes.

Home runs accounted for all of Torrance's tallies. "Rube" Wolfe and Joe Storti opened the fifth with singles and Paul Neva, brother of the pitcher, scored both with a terrific circuit drive over Randolph Bell in left field. Hal Forney, U. S. C. athlete, hammered another homer over Max Moody in right field in the sixth. Torrance and Westminster collide in a crucial game Friday night, and it's tough on the Westminster box office that the contest can't be played at the Flyers' park.

Huntington Beach got its biggest scare of the season last night when the lowly Fullerton Hawks carried Joe Rodgers' pennant-contenders 12 innings before losing 2-1 decision at Huntington Beach.

Howard Morning, veteran southpaw, pitched one of his first games this year and held Fullerton to six hits, its only run being a homer to left-center in the seventh by "Mutt" Dausser. Dausser's blow tied the score at 1-1. Huntington Beach having tallied in the third on Bob Smith's single, Pete Osborn's life on Dausser's error at second base, and Clarence Clements' single.

The Huntington Beach finally won the overtime struggle when Reg Lake singled, Morning walked and Coggan threw away Osborn's ground ball, Lake scoring on the error. Coggan relieved Pitcher Jim Sultenfuss after the seventh inning.

The Huntington Beach management announces that hereafter automobiles will be allowed parking space inside the park.

BABE SAYS PITCHING BETTER Smart Hurling, Not Less Lively Ball, Stops Hitters CLAIMS HEADWORK ESSENTIAL

By PAT ROBINSON (I.N.S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, June 1.—(INS)—Smarter pitching, not weaker hitting or a less lively ball has cut down the base-hit output, according to no less an authority than the eminent George Herman (Babe) Ruth, a lad who should know whereof he speaks. "There's not much room for those fellows with the strong backs and the weak heads in the big league any more," said the Bambino today. "Of course, there are still some who have so much stuff they don't have to be very smart but most of them now use the old bean as well as their arm. "I know, because I was one of those strong-back guys myself when I first started to pitch. My high-hard one carried me through until I learned what it was all about. "Lefty Grove used to be like

JACK DEMPSEY SMOKEUP PUTS OVER N.Y. BOUT

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK, June 1.—(UP)—A week from tonight a new chapter will be written into that chronicle of blows and blood, gold and glory that comprises the history of heavyweight pugilism. Max Schmeling and Max Baer will climb through the ropes at Yankee stadium, weather permitting, for a scheduled 15-round bout, bringing to a climax a daring venture in prize fight promotion. Neither fighter is a champion, and yet their meeting is being arranged in greater splendor and with louder rallying than most recent title bouts.

Moreover, it is being staged in the face of opposition from Madison Square Garden, center of the world's boxing industry, and right in the Garden's own ballroom, just when an army of crepe-hangers is moaning that the fight game is virtually dead.

According to the promoters, the financial success of the bout already is assured by advance sales of tickets. About 30,000 fans are expected to attend, many of them coming by special trains from as far away as California.

Schmeling is a former heavyweight champion, and Baer is a promising, colorful young fighter, but the big reason for the bout's apparent success is the fact that Jack Dempsey is handling the promotion.

Dempsey gave this fight more publicity probably than any other individual could have secured. He signed the fighters, made arrangements for their training, went into the ring with them and boxed at their camps, and now has become embroiled with Schmeling's manager, Joe Jacobs, because he gave Baer a couple of pointers for the fight. It was all novel, interesting stuff.

Schmeling probably will be a 2 to 1 favorite on the night of the fight, because of his greater experience. Baer is somewhat of an unknown quantity, despite the advertising. The best man he ever whipped was the late Ernie Schaaf.

Baer went 20 rounds with Paulino Uzcudun at Reno, losing to the Basque woodchopper, but Schmeling chopped Paulino to pieces in a 15-round meeting. Both are hard hitters, and it's doubtful if the fight will go the limit. Baer is the more devastating puncher, but he's wild, and the German is an elusive target. The Californian will have at least a 15-pound weight advantage.

'BIG C' PLAN APPROVED

FANS GET PEEK AT NEW SAINT GRID MACHINE

Santa Ana Hi will be another house divided tomorrow afternoon. With the cream of the Saint football crop suited for action, Coach Bill Foote will conduct his annual "last year-this year" varsity game on Poly field at 3:30. A nominal admission fee will be charged for the benefit of the "sweater fund" of last year's Coast league champions.

The contest will be an appropriate farewell to a long spring practice in which eight games were arranged for a squad of more than 100 candidates. It also will give Santa Ana fans a preview of the next Saint eleven, as well as of the new football rules. It will be Captain "Red" Kidder of '32 against Captain Ford Underwood of '33 in the finale. Both Saint leaders have enlisted sufficient talent to make the game an exciting one, although the powerful '32 club, finalist for the Southern California championship, will be a heavy favorite.

Although seen at fullback in spring drills, Captain Underwood will return to the line to make room for a backfield combination of Waldo Smith, quarter; Ray Clark, Paul Hales or Bill Hawkins, halfbacks; and Art Stranks, full. The husky Saint captain will pair with Richard Desmet at guard, with Ray Hamilton probably at center, Roland Williams and Fred Townor or Bain Alexander at tackle, Walt Hendrie and Carl Schultz at end. The lineup is only tentative, subject to several last-minute changes.

Captain Kidder of the '32 varsity will take his place at fullback in the opposing lineup, with Francis Conrad or Sam Tucker at quarter; and Floyd Montgomery, Bob Mitchell or Lee Hamilton at half; Clarence Bolton, Bob Wimbush or Jim Gruettner, ends; Fred Devenney and Raymond Kieper, tackles; Howard Rash and Jim Kieper, guards; Harold Kieper or Robert Boyle, center. Kidder is not certain just what guards he will employ.

Bill Cook, junior college coach, will be in charge of the '32 team. Foote will direct next fall's varsity.

STANFORD FINISHES SPRING GRID WORK

PALO ALTO, June 1.—(UP)—Stanford's football warriors stored away their gridiron togs until next fall today after winding up spring practice.

Coach "Tiny" Thornhill, groominging his first varsity as successor to "Pop" Warner, appeared satisfied with its showing and hopeful of winning prospects next fall.

The varsity was held to a 7-7 tie in a final practice game with the "seconds," yesterday. Frank Alustiza, Stockton sophomore, captured the spotlight by completing an 18-yard pass for a touchdown which placed the seconds out in front.

Having an early rally in the third inning and then clinching the game with a home run by Erwin Youel in the last inning, the Frances Willard junior high school ninth grade baseball team defeated Fullerton's eight graders at Fullerton yesterday, 4 to 2. HOOE SUES FOR DIVORCE FROM PROVING SPOUSE

Charging that on many occasions his wife had told him that she no longer loved him and that on one occasion she left her home and after sleeping several nights in the river bed took up her abode in a vacant house at McPherson, Walter L. Hooe, Santa Ana ironworker, has filed suit for divorce from Mrs. Olive Hooe. He is also seeking custody of the five children of the couple. The children range in age from 3 to 12 years.

In his complaint Hooe alleges that on many occasions his wife threatened to end her life and because of these threats he had been caused many sleepless nights fearing that she would injure herself.

In December, 1932, Hooe alleged that his wife left her home and was gone for several days while police searched for her. He said that when she was found she was living in a vacant house on the Ralph Fuller ranch at McPherson and previous to moving into that house had spent several nights sleeping in the river bed.

Hooe also accused his wife of neglecting her home and children. When he spoke to her about spending her time reading and allowing the children to care for themselves, he charged, his wife would become enraged, tear her hair and wring her hands and threaten to cut her throat.

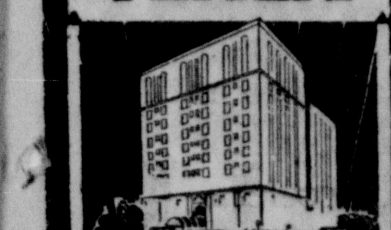

On November 22, last, he asserts, his wife became enraged over a letter she had received and did cut her throat with a razor making it necessary to take her to a hospital for treatment.

FINALS OF J. C. ELECTION TO BE HELD FRIDAY

Four presidential candidates having been eliminated in the primaries, Earl Homan and Miner Whitford were alone today in the race for student body president in Santa Ana Junior college's semester elections, which end on the campus tomorrow.

Homan received 79 votes and Whitford 68 yesterday on the primary ballot which eliminated Robert MacFarlane, 38; George Lake, 26; George Farquhar, 24, and Bruce Handy, 21, for the presidency.

Homan, of Midway City, and Whitford, of Santa Ana, are graduates of Santa Ana High school, where both took an active part in student affairs. They are in their sophomore year at the junior college. Student supporters of Homan, an athletic star in baseball and basketball, have carried on an extensive advertising campaign with a float, band, posters and cards, while Whitford hopes to win "without resorting to the usual ballyhoo," he said.

Bill McDaniel, freshman from Washington, was elected vice president over Jack Havens, Garden Grove student, by a majority of 62 votes. He received 156; Havens, 94.

George Curtis, one of the few boys who have ever been nominated for secretary, was eliminated with 55 votes. The Misses Leora Hatch, 114, and Dorothy Tedford, 84, will vie for this position in the finals tomorrow. Ted Meese, 134 votes, was named treasurer, nosing out Gerald Goodrich of the Junior Lions, who had 118.

The new and old executive boards will be honored at the annual junior college banquet next week. The new executive officers—president, vice president, secretary and treasurer—will convene soon to select commissioners for the athletic, women's athletics, forensics, publications; El Don, bi-weekly newspaper, and Del Ano, college yearbook. McKee Fisk, dean of the junior college, is executive board adviser.

120-POUND SHARK HOOKED BY GIRL, 7

FULLERTON, June 1.—Not daunted by the fact that her catch was double her weight, the seven-year-old Barbara Lang stood by and helped land a 120-pound bluefin shark she hooked while fishing for mackerel off Newport Beach Tuesday.

She was fishing with her father, Harold Lang, at the time. The fish was too much for her to land alone, and after calling for help, she succeeded in landing it.

Barbara is granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Thompson of North Spadra road, Fullerton. Her parents live at 799 Grand View.

Izaak Waltonians are considering giving the young fisherman an honorary membership in their organization.

REPAIR LOAN NON-SUIT PLEA REGULATIONS IS GRANTED IN ARE BROADENED DAMAGE ACTION

An amendment which will allow the Unified Rehabilitation corporation to accept as collateral for loans to repair property damaged by the earthquake, other unencumbered property, has been passed by both houses of Congress and needs only the signature of the president to become a law. It was learned today in a telegram received by E. L. Wilcox, in charge of the Orange county office.

The corporation, which is in charge of the distribution of loans to applicants whose property was damaged in the recent earthquake, expects to be notified officially of the president's signature of the bill within the next few days.

Wilcox was advised to start accepting applications on the new basis immediately where unencumbered property is being offered as collateral, although loans cannot be officially approved until official notification of the president's signing has been received.

Wilcox announced that applications will be accepted anytime in his office in the Santora building, that there is no time limit on the loans and that there is plenty of money yet available.

POLICE FOILED IN SEARCH FOR YOUTH

FLINT, Mich., June 1.—(UP)—Five days of futile search strengthened the conviction of police here today that Balfe MacDonald, 17-year-old fugitive hunted for questioning in the death of his mother, has succeeded in flight across the continent.

Police Chief James V. Wills expressed belief that Balfe and his companion, William Terwilliger, 16, are en route to California or already have reached that state. Los Angeles police were requested to watch the campus at the University of California, where Balfe's sister is a student and where the youth himself has friends.

Balfe and young Terwilliger disappeared from Flint last Saturday four hours before servants found Mrs. Grace MacDonald, wealthy widow, beaten to death in her bedroom. She was buried yesterday with police guarding the home.

Alleging contributory negligence on the part of Mrs. Lina Groos, of Anaheim, O. T. Callor, attorney for Maddie E. Gates, Stanley Goodrich, Lloyd J. Shrode and the estate of F. S. Gates, defendants in a suit brought by Mrs. Groos, petitioned and was granted a non-suit yesterday by Superior Judge James L. Allen.

Mrs. Groos had filed suit demanding $5250 damages for injuries received when she assertedly tripped over a low rope by which an automobile owned by Shrode was being drawn by an automobile owned by Maddie Gates and the Gates estate and driven by Goodrich.

The accident happened in Anaheim November 27 last, according to testimony introduced by William Webb, attorney for Mrs. Groos, when Mrs. Groos attempted to cross Broadway near South Los Angeles street. Mrs. Groos testified that she was crossing the street, not in the pedestrian lane and attempted to walk between the two automobiles which had halted at the intersection.

Callor, in his motion for non-suit, contended that the fact that Mrs. Groos was not walking in the pedestrian lane at the time of the accident was contributory negligence.

News Of Orange And Vicinity

GRAVEL TRACT BECOMING BEAUTY SPOT

Plans for the 17-acre tract in the Santiago creek are of great interest to residents of Orange who are anticipating the completion of the plunge at an early date. Work on the plunge and the clearing of the site, which will be planted and landscaped, was begun in April with R. F. C. funds and the completed project will cost about $50,000. An open air theater, horseshoe and tennis courts are included in the project. At present 72 men are working on the park being developed from a stony tract of gravel land.

Space for games has been reserved at the northwest and the open air theater will be located south of the game centers with the ball park on the southern part of the park. North drive will follow a stream of water over which rustic bridges are to be placed. The tract is on South Glassell street.

BEACH AUTHOR GIVES ADDRESS ON KIT CARSON

ORANGE, June 1.—The story of Kit Carson, famous scout and trapper of the early days of America, was told at the regular meeting of the Lions club Wednesday by Marion A. Speer, author and traveler of Huntington Beach Jack Lampert was program chairman and Burl Wing presided.

It was just 100 years ago that Kit Carson began his colorful career, the speaker said. As a youth of 15 Carson was apprenticed to a harness and saddle maker and it was through the sales brought to the shop in Franklin, Mo., by trappers and hunters returning from the almost unexplored western plains, that Carson began to travel in the young boy's breast, the speaker said.

Carson hid away in a freight wagon train and stayed in a wagon three days until nearly starved when the stayaway made his presence known to the freight master, said Speer. The lad was hired as a wagon hand and thus commenced his trapping and scout life which made him a prominent figure in history. One cent was offered for the runaway's return, Speer said.

The old west has been the study of Speer for many years and during his talk he told how Carson purchased an Indian wife for some powder and lead, two wornout horses and three mules.

A graduate of the Colorado school of Mines, Speer is said to be an authority on earthquakes and their causes and he was asked to return to the club at a future time and give a talk on this subject. Election of officers will take place next week.

EXTREME CRUELTY CHARGED IN SUIT

Mrs. Vernice Blower LaFlam has filed suit for divorce in superior court charging her husband, Charles A. LaFlam of Santa Ana, of extreme cruelty. The LaFlams were married June 1, 1922, and separated May 14 last.

Two days before the separation Mrs. LaFlam alleges that her husband called her vile names and walked out after informing her and his mother that he was going to get drunk and "have a good time with another woman."

Mrs. LaFlam said that she followed her husband to the car and he pushed her in the face with his open hand before leaving the car and walking away.

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

INFLATION

The public excuse has been made that Mr. Roosevelt was forced into this new anti-gold standard legislation.

They say at the White House he ran into difficulties trying to enforce his executive order taking us off gold. That is true, but it only half the story.

It covers up the fact that Mr. Roosevelt really had his eye on Europe when he recommended permanent legislation. It gives him a bigger club over the London Economic Conference. He needed it.

The administration has spent most of its time recently trying to depreciate the dollar abroad. That question has been bothering Mr. Roosevelt more than any other.

We have gone to extremes trying to make Europe believe we are embarked on a policy of inflation. We want them to get frightened, so they will come through with some tariff agreements and exchange stabilization concessions at London.

However no one is supposed to say anything about it. Treasury Secretary Woodin partially let the cat out of the bag one day. He received a lecture at the White House for the slip.

Woodin had said the first $25,000,000 open market purchase of bonds meant we were off on inflation with a bang. That sort of ballyhoo was a little too obvious. Even with lower rediscout rates you cannot get much inflation that way. Mr. Hoover tried it. His open market operations ran around $50,000,000 a week for months. Yet deflation continued.

The auspices are much better now. But we shall need more than open market operations to keep the dollar down abroad. Europe knows that.

LEAGUE

An innocent little announcement came from the State Department a few days back. It said State Secretary Hull had communicated with the Council of the League of Nations. He expressed his gratification that the League Council settled the Peru-Colombian dispute on the upper Amazon.

Few here paid any attention to the statement. But the diplomatic corps started buzzing. Some thought it a most significant international step. We have not been on speaking terms with the League. We have heretofore strongly resented any attempt of the League to handle affairs on this continent. We have a Monroe Doctrine which gives us that right.

Now we not only speak to the League but are gratified she did something we always before resented.

That is only one significant indication we may have a different feeling for the League from now on.

When the Republicans were in power they were very cautious on that subject. Whenever they were compelled to deal with the League on opium or whatnot it was always made clear that we had our fingers crossed.

That day is gone.

RAILS

Rail officials are deadset against the labor amendments to the pending reorganization legislation. They have told their boys in Congress that they would rather have the bill killed than accept the labor clauses.

That makes the situation strained. The labor officials have already told their people not to let the bill pass unless those amendments are in.

The rail crowd figures it can get along well enough without the bill. The roads are beginning to come back. Reports are around in financial quarters that the Baltimore and Ohio already is out of the red. Others have improved their position materially.

Prof. Berle of the brain trust is working on some railroad reorganization schemes independent of the bill. He may arrange to put as many roads as possible through the reorganization wringer. The R.F.C. rules give the administration power to act. That body can and may refuse reorganization loans to roads notable to maintain their fixed charges. Such a course would force them through a modified bankruptcy and accomplish the reorganization in that way.

SUGAR

Those who have had the latest squint at the Tariff Commission report on sugar say it contains no recommendations at all. It analyzes the Allotment Plan, but leaves a decision up to the administration.

The administration is quietly getting ready for the decision. Three men from the Commission have been working with officials of the State, Commerce and Agricultural Departments. The Cuban end is being handled by Ambassador Sumner Welles.

What you will probably get is the Allotment Plan and reciprocity with Cuba.

You many not have noticed that a recent commission announcement on sugar made a significant point about refined. It said the price difference between raw and refined was 1½ cents when the tariff law was passed whereas it is only one cent now. That made it appear as if the commission is against altering the present differential.

You can bank on the fact that the next step in this situation will not come from the Tariff Commission, but from the White House.

NOTES

Chinese resistance to the Japs was so weak in Jehol that our officials have an idea the Chinese sold out. . . . Their defense of Peiping was nothing remarkable but it appears they put up a somewhat better stand there. . . . Even the Chinese newspapers scented something was wrong when the truce was signed. . . . It was probably just a little Oriental diplomacy in which palm-softening is always an important part. . . . In connection with Hull's statement to the League, both he and Mr. Roosevelt were strong League supporters when that subject was an issue in 1920. . . . Our officials here believe the Japs will keep things quiet in the Far East at least until the London Economic Conference is over. . . . Former State Secretary Stimson's recent unexplained conference with Mr. Roosevelt was on Far Eastern questions. . . . Mr. Roosevelt highly respects Mr. Stimson's views on that subject.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

INFLATION

The inflation program for the near future will consist of a minimum of activity for a maximum of psychological effect. That's the story behind the purchase of $25,000,000 of government bonds by the Federal Reserve Banks. Twenty-five million is chicken feed for the purpose. Moreover it was more than offset by permitting $34,000,000 in bankers' bills to mature. The net practical result is a slight additional deflation—but not psychologically. The lowering of the rediscout rate by the New York Bank was in the same category. Important businesses are not yet in the borrowing mood. But it sounds like money is easier and cheaper to get—which is the main idea.

So far this bread-pill formula seems to be working. Authentic improvement in business is holding up remarkably well and the stock market continues to do its stuff as an optimistic barometer. The merest hint of inflation at signs of a relapse restores the old pep and helps keep the clamorers for large-scale inflation quiet.

This all ties in with recent comment in this column that a strong stock market is more important to the administration than it lets on. Gentle hypodermics from Washington at appropriate intervals helped to keep the bulls from getting weary. The Gold Standard bill was the biggest shot yet.

FINANCING

One reason why the Federal Reserve still refrains from extensive open market operations is the question of public works and other new financing. It is now legally possible for the Federal Reserve to buy securities direct from the Treasury as well as in the open market. That means that the Treasury can fall back on the Federal Reserve for its financing if by chance commercial banks and private investors don't come across as required.

Such an emergency is unlikely to develop. The best opinion holds that a billion dollars or more could be floated without flicking an eyelash. But the Federal Reserve doesn't want to commit itself too far in other directions until it knows definitely it will not be needed as a life-saver.

The government has a certificate issue of $272,000,000 coming due on June 14. A bond issue of $600,000,000 or more is being discussed to replace it on that day.

SPRAGUE

Professor O. M. W. Sprague, who will have a lot to do with currency problems, differs from most of his fellow economists in one respect. He doesn't ride hobbies. He has a reputation as a realist and is said to adapt himself quickly to unusual problems. His background is conservative but there is no guarantee he will act that way.

He is credited on the inside as the man who really worked out the mechanics of the original British stabilization fund.

TAXES

The fast thinkers in Wall Street have already doped out a plan to escape the extra burden if consolidated income tax returns are abolished.

In cases where top companies own their subsidiaries it would simply be a matter of changing their stock interest in the subsidiaries to a debt relation. You don't have to pay taxes on debts.

Utility groups are fighting the new tax plan to the limit under cover. Most of them haven't the nerve to speak out in their own names but are circularizing their security holders and employees. They tell them what terrible things will happen to their jobs and incomes if the new taxes go through and urge them to protest as individuals to their representatives.

A local expert in tax matters states that fully 30 per cent of people gainfully employed escaped paying an income tax entirely. He adds that the only possible cure for this condition is to abolish tax-exempt securities and see no likelihood of that because of political complications.

There are twenty state tax auditors covering Westchester, Manhattan and the Bronx. They are paid from $1400 to $3600 and are supposed to pick holes in the statements of millionaires made by the most expert private accountants. Their rating depends on the amount of money they bring in.

They never know nowadays when one of their cases will show up in the newspapers on a prosecution. If anything has been put over that they missed the assumption is they were paid not to see it. The nerve strain is terrific—but nobody is resigning.

IRONY

New York financiers see irony in the British loan to France. The truth is that Britain is now lending to France some of the funds which French citizens stampeded to store away in Britain. This cross-channel hoarding causes the French government anxious moments.

Many Projects Under Way In Relief Work Program

$146,220 R. F. C. FUNDS USED IN APRIL AND MAY

Representatives of the various cities conducting work relief projects during the past two months with R. F. C. finances are meeting this afternoon with Welfare Director B. V. Curry. The meeting was called for the purpose of replanning the county program under the curtailed allotment for June.

During the past two months $146,220 of federal funds has been expended on municipal and county projects providing work for the heads of approximately 6500 needy families. The majority of the federal fund has been expended as wages. Any tools or material required on the projects were supplied by the county or the city conducting the project.

Probably the greatest expenditure for materials and tools has been made by Fullerton in its project of improving Hillcrest park. That municipality, with 5900 man days allotted to the one project has expended approximately $2500 for materials, seeds, fertilizer and tools. This project is going ahead with 2900 man days already used leaving 3000 man days for completion of the project.

In addition to the Hillcrest park project which is under way Fullerton has completed improvement work in Commonwealth park and has crews at work cleaning weeds from street margins and cleaning storm drains.

Scheduled By Units
 In conducting projects under the R. F. C. program of work relief an attempt has been made to develop many projects as possible into units of development. This has worked out successfully in the development along Santiago creek with Santa Ana, Orange and the county cooperating. Santa Ana cleaned and improved Purinton park on the creek bed at Flower street and Orange is cleaning and leveling the South Glassell street park at the creek. In June the county plans to develop the bridge path and trail from the mouth of Santiago creek to Irvine park as a link in the park development. This link will tie up with the outdoor auditorium being developed in Irvine park and work on the Limestone Canyon Boy Scout camp, immediately above the park.

A similar attempt at continuity has been attempted in developing work along the beaches. The cities of Huntington Beach and Newport Beach have programs approved for June for cleaning and developing the public beaches. Laguna Beach is working on projects that include building new trails in Heisler park and improving and cleaning all streets and trails leading to the public beaches.

Continuing the unit southward county crews are building trails and cleaning beaches at Doheny park and improving the state park at San Clemente. The project includes building trails, cleaning trails and improving sanitation.

tion. It is understood that Seal Beach will submit plans for the improvement of the public beach there that will tie in and complete the beach development unit from north to south.

County Projects
 County projects completed, under way or contemplated for June are divided into four headings: flood protection, road work, recreational and building of fire-breaks and motorways and reduction of grade and fire hazards.

Under the road work division, crews are working on the Ortega highway digging drainage ditches to protect the highway; making an extension of Victoria street at Costa Mesa; and will start on leveling Palisades road at the bay and cutting ditches. Ditching and leveling Adams street in the Newport Beach area has been completed and ditches along the Los Alamitos boulevard have been completed.

In June the county will continue its street widening project in Garden Grove, cleaning ditches in all county road districts and removal of brush from the Santa Ana river channel.

One flood control project has been completed and another is under way. The completed project was on Coyote creek and the project under way is along Brea creek from the Fullerton city limits to the Los Angeles county line.

Under the heading of recreational projects the county has under way construction of a swimming pool and other improvements at the Limestone Canyon Scout camp; construction of the open air auditorium in Irvine park; and construction of an athletic park at Westminster in addition to work being done on the state parks at Doheny park and bridge trail along Santiago creek.

Development of the park at Irvine park is scheduled for this month.

Construction of firebreaks, motorways and reduction of grade and fire hazards is under way in Black Star canyon, Shadybrook, Silverado canyon, Santiago dam, at Carbon canyon, Edwardson ranch, Telegraph canyon, La Vida springs and Trabuco Oaks.

City Projects
 Other projects completed, under way and contemplated in the cities are:

Santa Ana—Demolition of the old city hall, damaged by the earthquake, completed; wood cutting, cleaning weeds from parkways, Santiago creek flood control, excavation at Municipal Bowl, rodent control, development of Purinton park, and city hall grounds at Tenth and Main streets; painting grandstands on the athletic field at the high school and grading of school grounds.

Orange—Extension of water mains and storm drains, completed; South Glassell street park, cleaning and developing; grading school grounds and cutting weeds to start this month.

Anaheim—Diking of the Santa Ana river for two miles at Anaheim for flood protection, near completion; drainage project completed; tree trimming and cleaning parkways completed and the city will start on a rodent control project this month.

Buena Park—Removal of plaster and lath from the Buena Park elementary school, damaged in the earthquake, will start this month.

Fullerton—Has completed work on Commonwealth park; development of Hillcrest park under way and the cleaning of street margins and storm drains also is under way.

Brea—Drainage ditches on Birch and Randolph streets have been completed; work is continuing on protection of the sewage plant and the cleaning of weeds from the streets will start this month.

Placentia—This community has completed its weed cleaning project and this month will start street grading and pavement repairs.

Huntington Beach—Wrecking of the elementary school, damaged during the earthquake is under way and cleaning of street margins and Ocean Front park has been approved for June.

Westminster—Wrecking of earth-

PAY TRIBUTE TO VETERANS OF CIVIL WAR

Following a custom of many years standing, the Santa Ana Kiwanis club paid tribute to the survivors of Sedgwick Post No. 17, Grand Army of the Republic, who were honored guests at yesterday's luncheon meeting in Ketter's cafe.

More than 10 years ago in St. Ann's Inn, there were so many members of the post present that it was difficult to find seating room for club members. In direct contrast, yesterday there were but seven veterans of the Civil War out of the 14 post members surviving who were able to attend the meeting held in their honor.

These were Commander J. H. Brown, George D. Campbell, Hiram Cleveland, W. J. Lieser, Lewis H. Neff, J. A. Wilkes and W. H. Young.

Honoring their presence, Dr. George A. Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church, expressed appreciation of their sacrifices and services, as well as to their departed comrades, in a Memorial day address. The speaker was introduced by Col. M. B. Wellington, program chairman of the day.

"Out of experience," Dr. Warner said, "comes the issues of our lives. Because of their years men do not become old. Memorial day has come to express a sentiment in all our hearts which reaches out to those that are to us for a while, yet whose love ties bind us so that two worlds are combined. Life is ever the lot of death and love can never lose its own."

"Your deeds," he said, addressing the G. A. R. members, "have given us hope, fortitude and courage. At the close of the Civil War there was a period of prosperity which was followed by the panic of 1873 when business collapsed. You went through this experience which is similar to the one we have today. The backwash of wars."

"Through all these years America has been trying and succeeding in accomplishing an ambitious thing, to wed liberty and justice and to make these twin virtues significant and an American contribution to history."

quake damaged portions of the elementary school is under way.

Seal Beach—Has completed wrecking the elementary school, damaged in the quake.

Tustin—Will start wrecking the elementary school building this month.

Newport Beach—Demolition of the elementary school auditorium is under way and work is being done on the extension of River avenue. Work will be continued on cleaning of streets in the Coast boulevard, Corona, Del Mar and Balboa Island sections and the cleaning of public beaches has been approved for June.

Laguna Beach—Work is being continued on construction of trails in Heisler park and improvement of all trails and streets leading to public beach.

SPANISH WAR ORGANIZATIONS IN CELEBRATION

Calumet camp, No. 26, United Spanish War Veterans and its auxiliary met in their regular monthly pot-luck dinner and picnic, at Irvine park Tuesday night, which gathering took on something of a celebration of the successes of these organizations at the encampment and convention of the department of California at Stockton last week.

Accorded the seats of honor were the newly elected department chaplain, William Brown of the veterans and May Glaze, newly installed junior vice department president of the auxiliary, and on each side of the department officers were the leaders of the state championship drum corps, Charles Cozad, and Frank Rowe, manager, and Mrs. Bess Moberly of the winning auxiliary drill team.

By winning the drum corps competition, Santa Ana's drum corps now becomes department drum corps as does also the ladies drill team assume the rank of department drill team No. 4.

In giving a resume of the highlights of the convention, Commander Sherman Glaze said, "If there was anything Calumet camp and auxiliary wanted at that convention, and didn't get, it was because they didn't make their wants known, or it was nailed down so tight that it couldn't be

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't take for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. ©1931, Carter Medicine Company.

He also stated that this was the best convention ever held by this department, both from the standpoint of harmonious deliberation and unanimity of purpose, that purpose being to dispel the soldiers' spirit of fortitude in the face of the misfortune confronting Spanish War veterans, in the now apparent elimination of practically all of the benefits heretofore enjoyed in the form of pensions and hospitalization and domiciliary care to veterans of this war, and to stand solidly behind their leaders in their endeavors to have these rights restored.

The next regular meeting of the camp and auxiliary will be held next Tuesday evening, June 6, at 615 East Washington avenue.

TEACHERS ENTERTAINED

GARDEN GROVE, June 1.—A group of local teachers and friends gathered recently for an informal party at the home of Mrs. E. R. Schneider on East Acacia street.

After enjoying games on the lawn the guests repaired to the house where refreshments of orange charlotte, French pastry and tea were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Winifred Schneider. The guests included Miss Betty Toland, Miss Gladys Sumner, Miss Lois Durwood, Miss Matilda Hill, Miss Pearl Crutchfield, Miss Mabel Head and Mrs. W. S. Reed.

A speaker's committee was named to make arrangements for holding future dry meetings throughout the county. It was decided to hold more meetings than in the past and to hold them down

COUNTY DRY SOCIETY P.-T.A. ORGANIZED FOR WILL MEET AT VOTE CAMPAIGN PARK FRIDAY

A county-wide movement to prevent the sale of alcoholic beverages in Orange county was in progress today following organization of strong dry forces in the county at a meeting held Monday afternoon in the First Methodist church here under the auspices of the Law Enforcement league.

The Rev. C. D. Hicks, president of the Santa Ana Dry association, who has been directing the educational dry campaign in Santa Ana, presented maps and precincts throughout the county to representatives of various communities at the meeting.

At the meeting it was decided to conduct campaigns simultaneously in the unincorporated areas of the county and in cities at the same time, enlisting the services of dry groups already formed. Each community will take a certain number of precincts and see that voters are contacted to determine their stand on the alcoholic liquor question.

Literature will be distributed throughout the county in the educational campaign to prevent the invasion of alcoholic beverages in Orange county.

During the meeting a discussion took place as to whether or not a restraining action should be taken to prevent the board of supervisors from calling the county plebiscite on whether or not alcoholic beverages should be sold in the county. It was stated that money spent in calling the election would be spent worthlessly because the election is a plebiscite and decides nothing, being in the form of a straw vote. It was decided, however, to face the issue and not to take any action in an attempt to forestall the election.

A speaker's committee was named to make arrangements for holding future dry meetings throughout the county. It was decided to hold more meetings than in the past and to hold them down

Interest of county workers in the Parent-Teacher association will be directed to Irvine park tomorrow, when the annual installation of officers is to take place. Morning sessions will be held at the tennis court where an informal school of instruction will be held for the new officers.

Mrs. R. W. Marvin of Anaheim, recently returned from state and national conventions, the former in Long Beach and the latter in Seattle, Wash., will conduct the school of instruction and at the same time bring reports of the two important conventions.

Members will take their own picnic lunches and the noon hour will be given over to sociability as association members assemble around the picnic tables. The afternoon program will continue the school of instruction, and various district chairmen, including program, membership and publicity, will confer with chairmen of such departments in the different units, on the duties and responsibilities of their various offices. Installation of officers will climax the afternoon session.

Roberta Tuthill Is Leader For Ebell

It was in the beautiful home of Mrs. and Mrs. W. Hollingsworth, 2422 Riverside drive, that the Ebell society held its latest meeting, members of this interesting group of young girls received at the door by Miss Janet Hollingsworth, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Hollingsworth.

Election of officers was of chief interest, resulting in the choice of Miss Roberta Tuthill to serve as president next year. Associated with her in office will be Miss Marjorie Marble, vice president; Miss Barbara Jane Davis, secretary, and Miss Barbara Lambert, treasurer.

Plans were made for the next meeting to be held Friday afternoon, June 2, with Miss Patty Rapp, 1912 Greenleaf street, and for a tea for mothers of members on the following afternoon, June 10.

Program features included an interesting talk by Mrs. John A. Tammann, who told the girls of the star which is the source of the electrical energy used for starting the Century of Progress fair in Chicago. She explained that it was 43 light years away and that its power had been concentrated through mirrors for this special purpose.

Concluding the afternoon was the serving of refreshments in which Miss Hollingsworth was assisted by her mother and also by the Misses Ruth Warner, Roberta Tuthill. Guests included in addition to active members, the Junior Ebell advisory board, Mesdames Emrys D. White, Terry E. Stephenson and John A. Tammann.

Los Angeles Guests Are Entertained

Mrs. and Mrs. S. J. Mustel, 1246 South Van Ness avenue, had the pleasure of entertaining on Memorial day, Alexander Borisoff, famous Los Angeles cellist, and Mrs. Borisoff, who came down in the forenoon hours remaining for the afternoon and evening.

An interesting feature of the day, especially to the young people of the home, was the series of reminiscences of his boyhood days in Odessa on the Black sea in Russia, related by Mr. Borisoff. The guests were delighted to see the progress being made by their hostess, Mrs. Mustel, on the large oil painting she is making for the drawing room of the new home they are building in Los Angeles.

Miss Evelyn Mustel, daughter of the home, is studying the cello under Alexander Borisoff, who is cello soloist with the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra and member of the Musart trio with Morris Stollhoff, violinist, and Max Rabinovich, pianist. Miss Nathalie Mustel studies violin with Stollhoff, and Miss Virginia Mustel studies piano under Rabinovich, so these three gifted Santa Ana sisters have also the privilege of studying trio technique as well as their individual instruments.

Miscellaneous Shower Is Happy Sequel To Dinner Party

When Miss Lola Seacord, attractive Downey girl, and her fiancé, Myron Sanders of Lynwood, were recent dinner guests in the home of Miss Seacord's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Seacord, Lemon Heights, they were entirely unaware that the intimate little dinner party was to have a sequel of additional guests, gifts and greetings in honor of their approaching marriage.

Miss Seacord is graduating from Downey high school on June 20, and shortly thereafter will become a bride. Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Seacord invited a few friends to dine with the young couple, including Miss Shirley Binford of Riverside, Miss Lois Murray of Tustin, and the two sons of the home, Wilson and Emory Seacord. Consequently the arrival shortly after dinner of the other guests came as a complete surprise to the betrothed couple.

A merry evening of games followed, and then to the pretty bride-elect was given the first clue in a treasure hunt upon which she and her fiancé were asked to start. Their careful search yielded them a store of attractive miscellaneous gifts for use in their future home. At the conclusion of the evening, Mrs. Seacord served ice cream, cake and punch, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Harry Whittey, and by Miss Binford and Miss Murray.

Joining the hosts and their dinner guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Sanders and Frank Sanders of Lynwood, parents and brother of Myron Sanders; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Seacord, parents of the bride-elect, Miss Betty Seacord; and Miss Alice Wilkes, Downey; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. James and the Misses Opal and Anna James, Orange; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Black and Miss Thelma Sepulveda, Pomona; Mr. and Mrs. John V. Newman, Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whittey, Miss Bess Simmons and Charles Nugent, Santa Ana. Mr. and Mrs. John V. Newman were the "newlyweds" of the party, Mrs. Newman having been Miss Ruth Tantiingler, a bride of early May. She and Miss Lola Seacord the honoree, had been bridesmaids at the wedding of two years ago of Miss Mary Emma Seacord and Harry Whittey.

Hostess Trio Gives Bridge Luncheon

The Misses Mary Jane and Fanny Steele of this city and Mrs. F. B. Maxwell of Olive formed a hostess trio entertaining recently with a lovely party. The Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe was setting for a luncheon served to precede bridge games enjoyed in the apartment of the Misses Steele.

Prize winners in the card games were Miss Nell Housley and Miss Damaris Beeman, who scored first and second high.

Guests of the hostess group were Miss Winifred Wonders, Miss Emma Meyers, Miss Hazel Gray and Miss Kay Head of Long Beach; Miss Nell Housley, Miss Mercie Clifford, Mrs. Arthur Sifton and Mrs. Otto Evans, Fullerton; Miss Alma Karlson and Miss Damaris Beeman, Santa Ana; Mrs. Robert Steppes, Los Angeles; Miss Helen Davidson, Culver City; Mrs. Edward Davies and Mrs. George Lemke, Olive; Mrs. Bern Thatcher, Fullerton.

New officers were introduced by Mrs. T. R. Trawick, out-going president. Dr. George Warner will act as president next year; Mrs. Catherine Marble, secretary; Mrs. A. W. Ruten, treasurer; W. P. Reed, parliamentarian; and Miss Vera Jacobs, historian.

Interesting addresses were made by Bill Spurgeon, former Willard student, on "Looking Back," and by Dr. Warner on "Looking Ahead." As a fitting close to the meeting, Lyle B. Mitchell, principal of Willard, presented Mrs. Trawick with a token of appreciation for her splendid work as president of the association for the past two years. In a brief talk Mr. Mitchell summed up the year's work of the Willard P.-T. A. and thanked the executive board and members as a whole for their co-operation throughout the school year just ending.

Ebell Section Scores Gratifying Success With Garden Party

When the sun came out Monday afternoon from behind high banks of fog, it was in ample time to add to the charm of the garden scene at the Dr. D. A. Harwood home, 2467 Riverside drive, where Mrs. Harwood, Mrs. Severin Schulte and Miss Clara Richardson of Ebell Fifth Household Economics section, were entertaining at a long anticipated garden bridge party.

It was a scene of unusual beauty, to which the bevy of charmingly gowned women contributed no less than the many roses and other flowers blooming so riotously wherever the eye chanced to fall. Tables were placed amidst these many blossoms, some of them shaded by tall trees, others by bright-hued umbrellas. Nearby porches and the sun room also had their full complement of tables where both contract and auction bridge were played. At the close of the contest, holder of high score at each table was awarded a prize.

Assisting in various pleasant features of the afternoon were Mrs. E. C. Diehl, section leader; Miss Beth Westcott, and Mrs. Kemper Taylor, a recent bride who was lovely in one of her smart tulle frocks. She was formerly Miss Helen Beebeers, and her mother, Mrs. A. G. Beebeers of Vandallia, Mo., who came especially for the wedding, also assisted during the afternoon. Mrs. Beebeers is remaining for an extended visit with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Severin Schulte.

Prominent among the guests was Mrs. Paul Bailey, Ebell president, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Edith Bailey, home from Berkeley for the summer and quite charming in her quaint plique jacket over a filmy frock, and with a saucy hat tilted over her dark hair. There were many other Junior Ebell members to enjoy the pleasant afternoon, all very smart in their gowns reminiscent of the "gray nineties."

Members of the section assisted the hostess trio in furthering plans for the party and in extending the afternoon's hospitality including the serving of tea and cookies at the close of bridge play.

Church Societies
Welfare Branch
Meeting last week in the home of Mrs. S. P. Freeman, 1418 Durant street, members of the Welfare branch of the Church of the Messiah spent a profitable afternoon in sewing, later sharing in the pleasures of afternoon tea and cakes.

This little group of workers has to its credit, a substantial amount of work accomplished since the branch was formed. All present were interested in learning from their hostess, Mrs. Freeman, who is leader of the branch, that in addition to the repairing of more than 70 garments, 98 pieces had been completed from new materials, including clothing for layettes. These totals represented the month of May alone.

Ebell Officers Seize Opportunity To Pay Honor To Leader

Extending an informal invitation to Mrs. Paul Bailey and Mrs. P. Jayne, to drop in at her Lemon Heights home yesterday afternoon for an informal cup of tea, Mrs. M. Burr Wellington was so successful in making it appear as a very casual invitation indeed, that Mrs. Bailey never suspected that she was only a pawn, albeit a very necessary one, in a deep game being played by her board members and committee chairmen of Santa Ana Ebell society.

But Mrs. Bailey is just ending her second successful term as president of that group of representative Santa Ana women, and her sister officers, eager to show their appreciation of her activities and her fine co-operation throughout the double term of office, chose a thoroughly delightful way of doing it by arranging for a surprise tea at which she was distinctly an honor guest.

Mrs. J. E. Paul's gardens yielded a wealth of flowers with which Mrs. Wellington garnished her home. Sweet peas formed a bright pool of color in the center of a lace-covered tea table, with slim candles repeating their rainbow hues. Mrs. Fred C. Rowland and Mrs. Jayne had been asked to preside at the silver tea service.

Mrs. Wellington, Mrs. John E. Backus and Mrs. Harold Segerstrom formed the actual hostess group, and had arranged as one of the phases of their hospitality, a graceful corsage bouquet for each guest.

Amidst the friendly atmosphere of the afternoon, Mrs. Rowland as firm vice-president, was given opportunity to make a little informal talk on behalf of her sister officers, in which, denominating Mrs. Bailey as the "depression president," and congratulating her upon the skill with which she had steered the society through such a troublous period, presented her with a pair of handsome silver candlesticks, the gift of her board members and chairmen.

In the party in addition to the three hostesses and their honoree, Mrs. Wellington and Mrs. Backus, Mrs. Segerstrom and Mrs. Bailey, were Mesdames W. B. Williams, George Raymer, F. P. Jayne, Ralph Mosher, J. E. Paul, Perry F. Schrock, Charles Carothers, E. H. Sharpless, Maxwell Burke, Earl Morrow, K. H. Sutherland, Emrys D. White, Fred C. Rowland, Lena Gulick Hewitt, F. E. Coulter, John Ball, M. C. Maloney and Hugh Shields.

Troop Three Enjoys Early Morning Hike

An early morning hike to the Boy Scout cabin just north of the Flower street bridge was enjoyed recently by members of Girl Scout Troop No. 3. A delicious breakfast was cooked over the new outdoor fireplaces which are a part of the group's outdoor equipment.

The group devoted some time to woodcraft and other activities following the sunrise breakfast. Those in the party were Betty Vosskuhl, Grace Heaney, Hortense Taylor, Louise Taylor, Beth Barnes, Eleanor Luz, Anna Marie Groy, Constance Duffy, Mabel Biner, Beth Lorette, Betty Colby, Betty Mae Engelman, Marilyn Maag, Elaine Biner, and the troop captain, Mrs. Rose Luz, with the lieutenant, Miss Rose Utick and Mrs. E. J. Vosskuhl.

Whittam, 417 East Bishop street, on Saturday, May 27, Mr. and Mrs. Norvell Whittam since have returned from a honeymoon trip to Big Bear and are established in their own home, 467 East Myrtle street.

The bride, Miss Geneva Welder, was lovely in a semi-formal frock of rose beige, with which she wore a floral corsage of gardenias and rosebuds. Her sister, Miss Ina Rose Welder of Los Angeles, was maid of honor, wearing a smart grey and white costume.

Charles Whittam of this city, a student at Occidental college, attended his brother as best man. The Rev. C. M. Aker, pastor of Spurgeon Memorial church, officiated at the ceremony, read at 6:30 o'clock Saturday evening before a fireplace banked with ferns. A pink and white theme had been observed in all appointments, including gladioluses, sweet peas and other flowers in attractive bouquets arranged throughout the home.

During the informal reception which followed, refreshments of ice-cream with heart centers, and decorated wedding cake were served. The first slice of cake was cut by the bride.

The new Mrs. Whittam is a graduate of Anaheim high school, and for a year was in the employ of Dr. Harvey Stryker. Her husband, who had his high school work in Huntington Beach, is with the Empire market of this city.

Mrs. Edward Hall Will Head Mills College Club For Year

Concluding an interesting year of varied activities, members of Orange County Mills College club shared in an especially enjoyable party as a sequel to their annual business meeting and election, when they met in Fullerton's beautiful Hillcrest park as guests of Miss Nancy Lee Carmichael of Fullerton, Miss Helen Goodwin Culp of Orange, and Mrs. Leland Finley of this city.

Mrs. Finley has directed the club as president through the year just coming to a close, and presided over the short session at which Mrs. Edward Hall (Margaret Lyon) of this city, was selected as her successor in office. Elected to serve with Mrs. Hall were Mrs. Mervyn Bryte, Santa Ana, vice president, and Mrs. Kellar Watson Jr., Orange, secretary-treasurer.

This important matter settled to the expressed satisfaction of club members, all turned their attention to bridge for which their hostesses had planned in advance. The game seemed doubly interesting played in such a lovely sylvan spot, and was most successful for Mrs. Frank L. Andrews Jr., to whom was presented first prize, with second high score held by Mrs. Edward Hall, meriting second prize.

In concluding their hospitality, the three hostesses re-arranged card tables for serving as lavetees, refreshment menu, and the afternoon closed on a friendly note of appreciation for associations of the past year, and anticipation for equally happy ones to be resumed in September.

In the party were Mrs. Mervyn Bryte, Mrs. Edward Hall, Mrs. Leland Finley and Mrs. Frank L. Andrews Jr., Santa Ana; Mrs. H. P. Larkin, Whittier; Mrs. Arthur Ackerman, Placentia; Mrs. A. Arnold, Miss Nancy Lee Carmichael, Fullerton; Miss Helen Goodwin Culp, Orange, and Mrs. Ray Roberts, Brea, all former students at Mills College.

S. S. Class Honors Departing President

Miss Gertrude Richardson of 514 West Fifth street, so soon to leave Santa Ana to make her home in Long Beach with her sister, found herself happily surprised Tuesday evening, by members of the Delta Alpha class of First M. E. Sunday school, of which she is president. Miss Richardson and Miss Irma DeBar, with a few other guests, had been invited to dine at the home of the Misses Elizabeth and Laura Sherman. While dinner was in progress, Delta Alpha class members went to the Richardson home, and when the group repaired there after dinner, it was to discover the merry conspirators. An evening of games followed at the conclusion of which, Miss DeBar, after expressing the class members' affection for their president, presented her with a handsome flannel robe in rose tones as a mark of appreciation for her various activities.

All present agreed that Miss Richardson will be greatly missed here, especially in the First Methodist and the Spanish M. E. churches in both of which she has been a willing and tireless worker.

9 Escape Serious Injuries As Cars Collide At Mesa

COSTA MESA, June 1.—Nine people narrowly escaped serious injuries Tuesday when the cars in which they were riding collided at the intersection of Seventeenth street with Newport boulevard. Both machines had to be taken to garages for repairs before their occupants could continue on their journeys.

One car was a heavy sedan, carrying the driver, Howard C. Danieley, and five other passengers, and the other was a roadster with three occupants, Perry Webster driving. The people in the sedan were from Brea and those in the roadster all gave their addresses as Arlington. Aside from being badly shaken up, no one was hurt.

BOARD SIGNS TEACHERS FOR MESA SCHOOLS

COSTA MESA, June 1.—The Costa Mesa grammar school board of trustees has made arrangements for teachers to take charge of all of the principal grades for the school year 1933-34. Teachers for the special classes, kindergarten, school health and manual training, will be employed for part time at least, and it is hoped that they may be put on for full time.

That there will be a decrease in all salaries is evident, but the standards of the school work will be held up to those of the past as near as possible, it was stated. Although the school has shown a steady increase in attendance for many years, the cost of operation has been decreased, but the school efficiency has not been decreased, according to Henry Abrams, principal of the institution. The year 1931-32 showed an increase of 20 per cent, 1932-33 an increase of 10 per cent, and next year an estimated 635 pupils will be in the school, over an even 600 for the year just past, but the cost of operating the school has dropped from $100 to $70 within the same period.

Permanent teachers remaining on the staff for another year are Mrs. R. V. West, Miss Viola Tummond, Miss Mildred Dack, Mrs. Nellie Long, Mrs. J. A. Pearce, Mrs. Maud Davis, Mrs. Maud Kennedy, Mrs. Winifred Taylor, Mrs. J. B. McNally, Mrs. Edith Currie and Miss Elsie Morrow. THE TINYMIES

The Tinties kept far out of sight until the elf said, "It's all right. I have his eagle by the tail, so he can't fly away."

"You Tinties come out, one by one. That will not scare him. 'Twill be fun when he finds out that you are friendly. Maybe he will play."

Woe Duncy ran out from a tree and said, "Oh, he won't play with me! I'd never trust that big, long beak. Supposin' he'd get mad?"

"As sure as fate, I would be pecked. At least, that is what I'd expect. I'll bet when anybody teases that bird, it's too bad."

Then Scouty came upon the scene. "Aw, shucks, he doesn't look so mean," said he. "I'm going to pat his head. I'm not one bit afraid."

Then, as he did, the bird stood still. This gave the whole bunch quite a thrill. "I told you so," said Scouty. "A new friend we all have made."

The elf then said, "Say, Baldy,

I am sure you've flown across the sky with two small girls. They're missing. I'll bet you know where they are."

Old Baldy promptly shook his head. "Ah, you are right," was Windy said. "The eagle knows. I only hope the place is not so far."

"Oh my, no difference will that make. Another trip this bird will take," exclaimed the little elf. "Who's brave enough to go along?"

"I am," cried Duncy. "Twill be fun, but how is this stunt to be done?" "The eagle, lad, will carry you," the elf said. "He is strong."

"Gee! Wait a minute," Duncy cried. Then Scouty snapped, "Aw, take the ride. You'll be a hero, if you find the girls, both safe and sound."

The eagle grabbed wee Duncy by the belt and sailed up toward the sky. The lad cried, "Wish me good luck," to the Tinties on the ground.

Where the Trained Seals Go to School

How the cleverest animals on the stage are caught and prepared for their theatrical careers in a California zoo

By ANDREW R. BOONE

LIONS of the sea, hundreds of sleek, well-mannered fellows, entertain many audiences of the world in circus, zoo and theater.

They clap their flippers, speak, balance sticks of fire, catch tiny balls on the tip of sharp noses and "argue" with their trainers because two California men have the fortitude and patience to catch and train them.

They are commonly known as seals, but in reality they're sea lions and they come from the waters of the Pacific off southern California. Most of them reach stardom from the three Coronado Islands, 20 miles south of San Diego.

S. C. Charles, director of animal training for the San Diego zoo, trains most of them. In his novel seal school, conducted in the "back yard" of the 110-acre zoo, he weans them away from the sea, teaches them to be unafraid of fire, to be friendly with man, to do as they're told.

Sounds simple, but Charles takes weeks even to become acquainted with a new "class." Yet, once he achieves their friendship, they never forget him.

As soon as his new "students" waddle out of the wire cages in which they are placed when first they are lifted out of the Pacific ocean he "shoo" them into the zoo's large outdoor pool. There they become acquainted with older sea lions, animals that have been in captivity for years. From them the newcomers learn to eat in captivity.

CHARLES takes sea lions about three years old for training, for then they have reached a stage in their growth where they are less liable to become diseased and do not need to be fed on a bottle or with a spoon.

But the secrets and tricks of initiating sea lions into the routine of a theatrical act lie in these two facts: these animals are smarter than dogs and Charles never varies the routine or his commands.

"Most sea lions adapt themselves to captivity easily," Charles explains. "In order to gain their confidence I sit quietly on a rock beside their pool, sometimes for days. At last one comes up, touches my hand with his nose, and soon all of them become my friends. They then will follow me wherever I go, in water or on land.

"When at last we become acquainted I move the seven or eight to be trained to a nearby building and begin their 'schooling' indoors, for it is necessary that they become accustomed both to interiors and to people. After all, that's the life they will lead as professional performers.

"During the early stages I move very slowly. I never raise my voice. I never make a quick motion with my hands or feet or head. I show no fear, nor do I give them any reason to fear me. Literally, we become pals.

"SOON I become such a fixture among them that they actually waddle up and try to shove me out of their way with their noses; and finally, they bark whenever I appear. They become lonesome without me.

"Now they're ready to learn. I begin with simple commands. Fact is, the commands must remain simple, for the sea lions begin to associate certain sounds of the voice with the trick they are asked to perform and with the reward they learn will follow when they perform successfully. The praise always is accompanied with a small bit of fish.

"The fish is all-important, for when training they derive all their food in this way. Thus they must perform well to eat at all.

After each good bit of acting, he rewards his charges with a bit of fish.

"This, of course, is not carried to any ridiculous extremes. If some seal hasn't the mental capacity to learn, we return him to the pool, where he eats his fill with the other dummies."

One of the early steps in training these little beasts is naming them. Charles had one recent class of eight, all of whom would respond to roll call by barking. You can imagine what a laugh-getter this is on the stage.

CONFIDENCE, no matter how it may be attained, is the real secret of training sea lions. Having obtained their confidence, Charles weeds out those intellectually deficient, "demoting" them to the pools, from which eventually they are removed to some zoo or circus requiring no acting.

Within three months from the day they leave the sea the weeding-out process is complete and advanced training begun. But three years may elapse before the class "graduates" to some vaudeville act.

And speaking of confidence, Charles convinces the sea lions that no matter what they attempt no harm will befall them. Take the flaming torch for instance. He doesn't toss a burning wand into one's mouth without long preparation.

He first gives the particular sea lion a bit of charred wood, so he'll learn the taste of fire; then a red wand, to teach him the color of fire; and at last a heated stick of red wood, for the feel of fire.

When, next, he throws to the sea lion a long wand burning at both ends, the animal receives it with apparent joy, tossing it and turning it in his mouth with no fear whatsoever.

There are very few words in the seal vocabulary. "Hit" and "hup,"

Charles puts a sea lion through a difficult trick—balancing a ball and stick on the nose. . . . Later, this will win applause in many vaudeville theaters.

"all right," "that's good" and "steady" are about all that are necessary.

After the sea lions learn their names, Charles begins to use the first two words.

When he says "hup," he eases a lion with his hands along the floor toward a pedestal and helps him climb up. Or he may say "hit," and help him balance a ball or a stick. Soon the young actors learn to associate the word with the particular piece of equipment and the action Charles desires.

The command, "all right," comes to mean "that's the end of this stunt"; while "that's good" tells them the entire act is ended and they must leave the stage. "Steady" encourages them during a particular bit of action.

Always these signals are accompanied by bits of fish. In this way the students receive nearly five pounds a day. They refuse all other kinds of food and receive enough in this way to help them grow fatter and stronger even during training.

ONE of the funniest bits of business ever to be injected into a seal act resulted from the habit one youngster developed. Whenever he saw his keeper approaching with a bucket of fish, he would lean back and clap his flippers. After watching this several days, Charles taught the other seven in the act to clap when he brought a bit of fish to them.

On the stage he would approach them just as one member was finishing his bit, a piece of fish hidden from the audience. Immediately all would clap for the fish, but it looked to the audience as though they were applauding their mate. Naturally this drew big applause.

Sea lions are the wildest of wild animals in the ocean. Wild, that is, in the sense that they will not permit man to come near them.

No man can pet a sea lion in his native habitat, yet in two months Charles so changes their habits that they eat out of his hand, both literally and figuratively.

Occasionally a baby sea lion finds its way to the San Diego zoo, possibly picked up or caught by some fisherman. Zoo attendants care for them exactly as a mother nurses a babe, feeding them on milk until they're old enough to take hard food.

A netful of wild sea lions being hauled aboard by Steve Zolezzi on an expedition to the Coronado Islands.

THESE become so attached to their keepers that they spend their entire lives within the one zoo, their trainers unwilling to part with them. They are quite as capable of feeling affection as dogs are, for instance.

Usually, Charles says, he can tell at the outset which sea lions will respond readily to teaching. The longer the head, the longer the intelligence. Occasionally, though, a long-headed sea lion turns out to be the dunce of his class; whereupon he goes to the foot of the class—in the pool.

Most of the sea lions are caught on the three Coronado Islands, off San Diego, by Steve Zolezzi and his son.

They go out in a little fishing smack, carrying wire crates and a long, strong net.

In the middle island there is a long cave, quite wide inside, yet with a small opening at the east side. At high tide the sea lions retreat inside.

After landing on the island, Steve stretches his net across the mouth of the inlet, tying its ends to rocks on each side. As the water begins to recede the net swings out toward the sea in a half-circle.

Then—"Bang!"—a rifle shot echoes around. Within a minute several hundred of the lions, wild in their frantic efforts to escape the noise, rush out to sea. Some of them—usually about five—get caught in the net.

As soon as several are seen to be tangled in the meshes, Steve and an assistant untie the ends, draw them into the small boat and row out to his fishing smack. There a winch draws them over the side and dumps the entire load—net and animals—into the hold.

No circus tricks or vaudeville tours seem to be worrying these animals. . . . A photograph of a large group of sea lions disporting themselves in the Pacific ocean off Middle Coronado Island.

THE TYRANNY OF THE MAJORITY

One of the weaknesses of democracy is the tendency of majorities to be unfair, vindictive, over-bearing and cruel. It is for this reason that the framers of Constitutions in all governments aim to guarantee the rights of minorities against usurpation and injustice.

The right of free speech, of free press and of assembly all are fundamental guarantees for minority groups. It is very difficult for some people to consider that the minorities have rights that anybody is bound to respect. It is inconceivable to some that one or a few may be right and the majority wrong. But throughout history there is almost universally found some elements of truth in all protests and in all minorities.

Granting people, and particularly the minorities, who have no power to determine government, the right at least to a free press, to free speech and the right of assembly, gives them those privileges of the presentation of what they may claim to be truth in such a manner that if it is truth, it will be able to win its way with the majority and transform that majority against the truth to a majority for it.

The far-seeing, clear-minded student of history and of political science can rest quite content, and view without alarm whatever propaganda may be presented by such minorities, because he knows that the more completely it is presented and discussed, the more certain are its fallacies to be made known and truth to be secured. To try to gag the expression of the minorities is either to evidence fear that the truth will be known, or that the people to whom the appeal is being made are morons and "half-wits," who cannot be trusted to weigh discussion to determine truth from error. If the latter be true, then democracy has already failed, because the people are unfitted for it.

It is a singular fact that wherever a repressing hand has been laid upon the minorities of government, or by organizations with which government co-operates, and the matter is not brought out into the full light of public discussion, there is a more rapid increase in the adherents of the minorities. And finally there is a more thorough-going organization than in those places where, with the frank and free discussion and clear examination, the wheat is separated from the chaff, truth is separated from error, and they stand out clearly in the public mind.

Look at Russia! With the most despotic, cruel and unyielding government of our civilized people, banishing to Siberia every person who dared to raise a protest against cruelty and injustice; with the secret spy system like a lecherous network all over the entire empire, the minority groups were driven like moles in to the earth. But they carried on their work, under all these sacrifices and handicaps, to such an extent that the radicals are today in control, the former government is destroyed, and the very religious organization, which was a part of it, has been driven out with the government, and the opposite extreme of atheism comes as the natural result. There is no surer way to kill error than to expose it to the full light of examination and truth. Error is just like any other vermin, it cannot stand the light. But driven back into the ground, it grows by what it feeds upon, and multiplies.

Incidentally, we are reminded that when the League of Nations was being formed, and it was considering a provision in the Versailles treaty that would protect minorities in Germany, representatives of Germany presented to the conference of the Allied Powers a statement in writing, that all guarantees should be preserved for minorities in Germany, regardless of their race or color or religion. While this is not embodied in the League compact, it was a part of the inducement for leaving it out of the League pact, which makes it binding upon Germany, and gives power to the League of Nations possibly to enforce justice for the Jew inside of Germany.

In Los Angeles, where the right of free speech and the right of assembly are despised and spat upon by the authorities, radicalism grows faster than in any other city in California. The blood of the martyrs was the seed of the church. And the populace, knowing that law is being violated in denying people free speech, is impressed that there must be truth behind the martyrs, or they would not be willing to be beaten up. This kind of martyrdom gets support, whereas by discussion, freely and openly, the error, and even absurdity of their position, would become known. And Los Angeles would be better off and have a better reputation for the spirit of democracy.

JUNKERS IN GERMANY STILL UNTAUGHT

An address made at Muenster, in Bavaria, last week by the former German Chancellor Von Papen, now a prominent member of the Hitler cabinet, is significant. It is a well known statement made concerning the old French Bourbons that they never forgot anything and never learned anything. The same seems to be true of the German Junkers, who, more than any other, were responsible for the conditions which precipitated the World War. And Von Papen, at that time connected with the German Embassy in Washington, is distinctly of the Junker class.

In his address, the former Chancellor stated that "the battlefield is for man what motherhood is for woman." He thus connects the battlefield with the necessary and the inevitable process of perpetuating the human race. In other words, war will be as lasting and as inevitable as motherhood. The idea reverts to the theory of the biological necessity for war, which holds that man is a fighting animal, and the battlefield is his arena.

It is this spirit that has the potential power of making Germany dangerous to the peace of the world. Those who know the German people know them to be much like other people—subject to influence through aggressive leadership. They are not a warlike people, only as they are stirred by militarists to believe that the world is against them; and that if they would be free, they must fight.

The years following the peace have been hard years for the German people. A great body of sympathy was growing up in the world toward them. Many Americans, as we know, felt that the peace terms were not only hard, but perpetually enslaving. Under the enlightened and conciliatory leadership of such men as Stresemann and Brüning, that body of sympathy grew tremendously. With the rise of Hitlerism, that sympathy has largely vanished. And statements such as this made by Von Papen will dispel it entirely.

This, it seems to us, is a misfortune for the German people, and a misfortune for the world as a whole. Our President executed a master stroke, when as a spokesman for the greatest nation in the world, he sounded a note to all the rulers of the earth calling for a laying down of arms. These words of Von Papen were uttered before that note was sounded. We hope it had its effect upon him, as it undoubtedly had its effect upon Hitler. In a world of suspicion, industrial prostration, and envy, the Von Papens should be silent, and the prophets of peace and good-will represented by our President should be heard above the din.

VETERANS' WRONGS

The ex-service men have been urging that there is great injustice being wreaked upon them, through the administration of the Economy bill. It takes several forms. In some cases, men are denied their continuation for hospitalization, and in others, such drastic cuts are made as to result in great hardship.

It is exceedingly difficult to make a law which must be universal in its application, so adjustable as to work out justice, unless there is given great latitude to the administrator of that law, who finally comes in contact with those to whom the law applies. It is difficult to provide this in the law, because it opens up such great opportunities for favoritism, if not worse.

We are glad to note that in the Senate yesterday, the amount for domiciliary care of ex-service men was increased from one million to two million dollars. Both Senators Johnson and McAdoo, representing many others in the United States Senate, believe that there has been great injustice sustained by the veterans.

Thousands of war heroes, wounded, blinded, maimed, have had their compensation reduced to almost nothing. The tales of what has happened to these heroes will rock any man that has a human heart. A great wrong has been done to these men—let us right it if we can. I have unshaken and unbounded confidence in President Roosevelt and what he ultimately may do. But he cannot personally administer all the powers granted to him.

I hope I never will have to receive in my life again such heartrending letters as have poured in upon me since this law has been applied. And you all have many letters of the same kind.

It certainly should be arranged that places of injustice should be righted, and that local administrators should at least furnish Washington with the complete statement of these cases, so that the law itself may be modified in order to cover them, or that there may be liberty granted in the interpretation of the law, to insure against such injustice.

AN EXPENSIVE CONVICTION

A London business man is going about England, who is said to be spending five thousand dollars a week trying to convince people that the world is going to end June 12.

We wish he would come to Southern California and at the rate of five thousand dollars a week try to convince us that the world is going to end June 12. If we could spend that much a week we would be willing to have the world end on June 12th.

No Dictatorship In United States

Riverside Enterprise

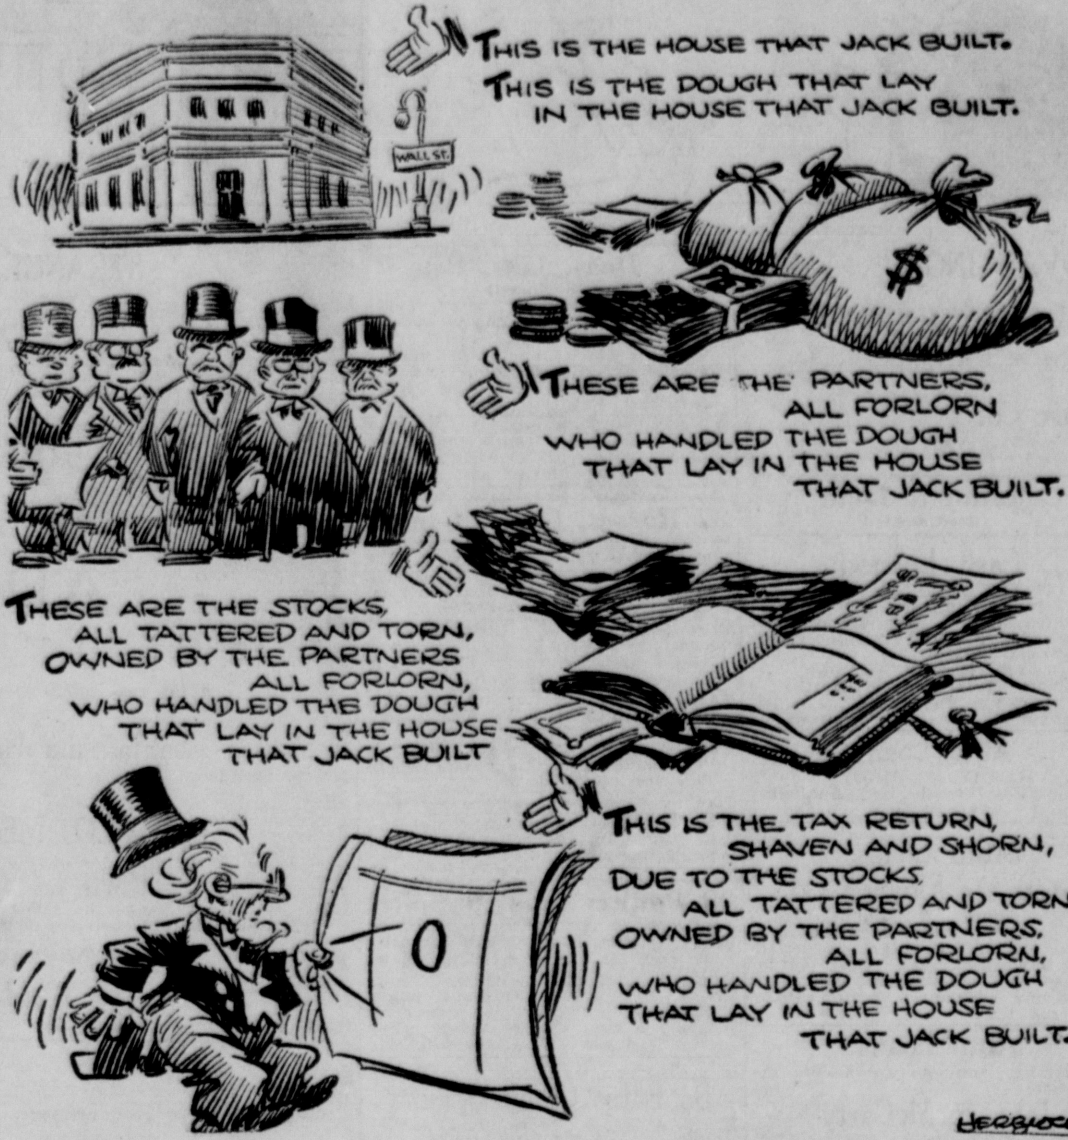

Speaking of this dictatorship business, Simeon Strunsky, in the New York Times, gives a fair idea of what the situation would be in America today if the President actually possessed and exercised the dictatorial powers he is often credited with.

He would rule, according to Strunsky, through a private army of a couple of million "Blueshirts." The federal army and national guard would be made powerless. Congress would be on forced vacation. By Presidential decree, for an indefinite period. The Republican and Socialist parties would be outlawed, and members who refused to be good would be rounded up in concentration camps. There would be a strict press censorship, with all editorials on government affairs written and distributed, for compulsory printing, by an official press bureau at Washington.

The current President, of course, like his predecessors, is ruling according to the Constitution, not depriving Congress of any of its constitutional powers. Principles are preserved. Only methods have been modified somewhat. Thus laws have been enacted in which Congress, instead of prescribing exactly what shall be done and how money shall be spent, lays down the general purposes and policies and leaves it to the administration to work out details and apply them as flexibly as conditions require. Such authority, too, is granted for limited periods, and the practices in due time come under congressional review.

"This procedure is democracy's own method of acting quickly in time of crisis," according to General John J. Pershing. "America has proved that she does not need a dictator to act decisively in time of emergency."

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

SAFE, FOR A WHILE

When lately I learned that the earth,
While the seas go whirling away,
Is rapidly shrinking in size,
I was filled with abiding dismay.

"Already," said I, "this terrestrial ball
Is described by a great many people as small,
And supposing it fades into nothing at all,
Pray where are we going to stay?"

"The lot upon which I reside
Will slowly diminish in size,
Till the front and back fences collide,
And some day, when from rest I arise,
I shall find that place where I pitched my abode
Is just a meandering streak by the road,
And mutter an oath, such as 'Well, I'll be blowed!
This is an unpleasant surprise!"

"One advantage, of course, there will be Great cities like London or Rome,
Now far away over the sea.
Will be just a few jumps from my home;
And if for a crisp morning saunter I care,
A half hour's stroll in the chill morning air
Will save me the need of the rather steep fare
For a journey to Moscow or Nome."

But I learn that the tidings purveyed
By the great astronomical seers;
Who are heirs at one's hopes or one's fears,
Give no ground for one's hopes or one's fears.
We need not prepare for a sudden surprise,
Or scan the horizon with awe in our eyes,
For the planet we dwell upon shrivels in size
Just one inch every two hundred years.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

ROOSEVELT AND READJUSTMENT

Mr. Roosevelt has been the first to admit that he has approached the colossal challenge of the presidency without a dogmatic and detailed plan.

He has himself described his problem in terms of the problem of the captain of a football team. He must use his best judgment in calling the play that he thinks will best advance the team toward its goal.

If that play is stopped by opposing forces, he must call another play.

To shift the figure from athletics to music, Mr. Roosevelt has shamelessly confessed that he is playing by ear.

In the light of all that humanity has suffered at the hands of dogmatists and fanatics, men with patent medicine minds who have been convinced that their single prescription could cure all ills, I do not interpret Mr. Roosevelt's candid confession as a sign of weakness, but as a sign of strength.

No one assuredly knows the way out.

Responsible experimentalism, at once cautious and courageous, is the supreme need of contemporary statesmanship.

Even the most responsible experimentalism, however, may prove pointless unless the experimenter is pointing his experimenting towards a definite and valid objective.

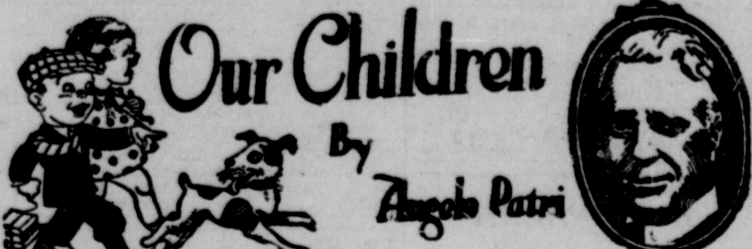

This, I think, Mr. Roosevelt is doing.

I may disagree, you may disagree, with this or that experimental policy sponsored by the President, but it seems to me that there should be nation-wide recognition and approval of the fact that Mr. Roosevelt is obviously pointing his experimental policies toward an urgently needed readjustment of the structure and processes of our political and economic policies.

There are millions of Americans who have yet to realize that a profound revolution has taken place in our civilization, as it has passed from its agricultural to its industrial phase, without a corresponding readjustment of our political and economic policies.

Tomorrow I shall try to sketch the outlines of our agricultural past, and the day after the outlines of our industrial present.

THE TAILENDER

There are few groups of children without their tailender. The child who is at the foot of the class, against the wall at recess time, counted out of school parties, pushed aside whenever anything of importance is under consideration, is the one that ought to be singled out for our affectionate service because life has been unkind to him.

Was ever a child born who chose to be dull, dirty, ragged, starved of food, affection and decent care? His troubles were thrust upon him. He is the helpless victim of his heritage, his family and his home.

I have always felt bad when a teacher praised a beautifully kept child for his cleanliness and general neatness, for his fine skin and shining hair and then turned upon the forsaken child in his soiled garments, stained skin and dirty hands and sent him to the last seat, an outcast, a byword. It is not fair. The clean, healthy, shining child did not choose his condition, no more did the other one. He happened to fall into unpleasant places while the fortunate one landed in the best of homes.

It seems to me that the community ought to feel responsible for the outcast child and see that he was given a chance to win approval. If he is dirty, wash him. If he is hungry, feed him. If he is dull, teach him. If he is craving affection and praise, give them in full measure. There are tragedies in childhood as well as in maturity and society is responsible for the earlier ones at least.

The disciplinary case in school usually lacks home background and ordinary care. He feels himself unloved. He tried to make himself big enough to measure up to the standards of classroom and playground by telling tall stories, by swaggering about, bullying other children and the teachers, when he can. Such conduct ought to be a signal for help rather than for punishment. Before committing a boy to a penal institution some effort ought to be made to keep him out. If his home is poor, and he usually is, remove him and have him cared for in a better one. Then call in the physicians and specialists and plan a training for his needs. If he is normal minded and in fairly good health he will respond well to such care. It is the nature of children to grow and to love order and good manners. They would rather be trained to right ways than to be cast out to grow as they can.

In these days of poverty of school funds we must have more and better volunteer service. Here is where the parents' associations and the members of the local school boards can be of great assistance. They can give their attention to such children as need it most. They can search out the failing children, the bad ones, the sick ones, and the queer ones, they are all alike in their need, and take care of them. The good ones have plenty of friends and can get along very well. The tailenders are the ones that must be saved.

They must be saved for our own sakes. Left to themselves they are going to bring sorrow upon themselves and on us as well. Stop trying to punish them and help them.
